Mrs. T. W. Tomkies, of the popular Park Hotel, is the happy recipient of a most appreciative token from her guests during the legislative session. Among these guests are a number of legislators and some members of their families; and such has been the entertainment they have received that they have come to regard it as a visit to home folks rather than a stay at a hotel for a legislative session. As the days draw near when good-byes must come a growing spirit of gratitude appears. And in token of this the guests surprised their generous hostess by presenting her a beautiful cut-glass fern dish and silver pie nife. Mr. Langford, of the House, made the presentation address; and Mrs. Tomkies responded with as nice a little speech as the best man there could have made.

POLICE EXONERATED

Of Being Uncivil To Suffragists In Washington

Washington, D. C.—Superintendent Sylvester and the Washington police are absolved from blame for the disorders which attended the big woman's suffrage pageant here March 2d, by the report of the senate committee which investigated the affairs and which report was presented to the senate.

The report charged that the immense inauguration crowd and the fact that street cars were permitted to operate along the line of march up to the last moment, were principally responsible for the disorders. Q. Q. Q. Chief Sylvester was exonerated of charges of "hostility" to the suffragists.

General Lee and His Father Lie Side by Side

Savannah, Ga.—The body of "Light Horse" Harry Lee, revolutionary leader, and father of Robert E. Lee, was disinterred at Dungeness, Cumberland island, where it was buried nearly a century ago. The body now rests beside his distinguished son.

The Queen and Gambling

Though the queen is to accompany the king to the grand national next month, she retains her dislike for gambling. But some years ago when the royal party was traveling down by rail for the derby, the late King Edward proposed a half crown sweep-stake on the race, and Princess Mary drew a horse that had a fine chance. Prince Arthur of Connaught having drawn his usual blank, suggested he should buy it from her present majesty for five shillings. She declined, and held to her chance, which romped home an easy winner. "For any one who does not like gambling," remarks M. R. H. when retailing this yarn, "I never saw any one collect her winnings more quickly."—London Opinion.

WOULD PROHIBIT NEW HATS.

Unique Penalty Urged For Wearing Odd Headgear.

Because his views were obstructed by the hats of women when he attended Easter church services Senator H. W. Bradford of Austin, Tex., introduced a bill in the legislature making it unlawful for any female to wear in church or any public gathering any hat or headgear having a crown of any ornament exceeding two inches in height or a brim more than four inches wide.

The penalty provision reads: "Any person who shall violate the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be deprived of the privilege of purchasing any new hat for a period of three years and shall only be allowed to purchase one costing less than $2 and to be of uniform design, color and ornamentation."
